

Special Floral Tips for Brides

- Use your bouquets for double duty and position them on reception tables to stretch your floral budget
- Use your altar/ceremony flowers as buffet pieces at the reception
- When getting married during warmer months, have a cooler ready to keep the bouquets cool and fresh all day when not using them for photos
- Don't have your flowers delivered too early – our recommendation is 1-1 ½ hours before the ceremony.
- During warmer months, keep a spray bottle of cool water handy to spray the flowers and keep them refreshed
- Make sure if you are refrigerating your flowers, there is no fresh fruit in the refrigerator. Gas produced by ripening fruit will cause premature opening and wilting of the flowers
- Keep smoke away from all flowers including any personal boutonnieres or corsages
- When getting married during the winter, make sure that your flowers do not freeze, flowers should not be stored below 40 degrees
- Use centerpieces as thank you gifts for the special people that assist with your wedding day – they can continue to enjoy your celebration
- Using matching flowers for your cake and petals for the cake table help to continue the color theme of your wedding day
- Make sure that the Father of the Bride boutonnieres flowers are complementary to your bridal bouquet. This special thought makes Dad & Daughter photos more spectacular.
- If hosting an Opening Gifts event, use centerpieces from the reception to carry your theme home
- Announce your wedding day by using matching wreaths on the doors of the church – then reuse them at the reception
- Please let us know if anyone in your wedding party has a pace maker. If so, we will not use any magnets to hold corsages in place
